

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOLUME XIV.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 12, 1881.

PRICE 5 CENTS.

AWAITING THE CHANGES

THAT WILL MARK THE COURSE OF ARTHUR'S FLOP.

The Senate Fails to Take Up New Business, and Awaits Developments.—The Day a Caucus.—Some Cabinet Gossip.—Howgate and Gulliver Illustrating Stalwartism in Court.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—In the democratic caucus it was developed that the old women who are afraid of their shadows, as Susan Cox styles them, were in the majority. About twelve gallant spirits were in favor of Senator Brown's plan of electing the secretary, and perfecting the organization of the senate before swearing in the new senators. The conference lasted until 3 o'clock.

The democratic senators met in caucus about 2 o'clock, and remained in session about an hour. The committee appointed yesterday evening to examine the credentials of the three new senators reported that they had found nothing on which to base objections to the admission of the new senators on the prima facie evidence of their credentials. Their report was promptly adopted by the caucus, which soon afterward adjourned.

The democratic senators met in caucus about 2 o'clock p.m. again to discuss the situation and arrange on a plan of action respecting the appointment of committees and the election of a secretary.

The conference lasted until 3 o'clock.

The election of a secretary and the appointment of new committees was discussed in a very informal manner, but no definite plan was reached on either question. Finally the caucus adjourned to meet again at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, when it is expected both questions will be definitely determined.

Senator Anthony to-night issued a call for a republican caucus which will meet at the capitol at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

The Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—It is generally believed that at least two cabinet changes will be announced when the senate convenes to-morrow, the retiring members being Wilmot and MacVeagh. It is known that the president has upon his desk above a hundred nominations to be sent to the senate and the general impression to-day is that the adjustment of the senate will be possible in two or three days.

The cabinet session lasted about an hour but nothing of importance was considered. The time was devoted principally to the discussion of the political situation as it now stands.

Scandal of Stalwart Republicanism.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—On the opening of the criminal court this morning, Mr. Enoch Totten, of counsel for the defense in the star route case, addressing the judge said: "I present a motion to rescind the order made some days ago authorizing information to be filed. I also present a motion asking for an order on the district attorney to bring the records and files of the post office department relating to this particular route to some place where we can see them. We have made three applications to the postmaster general for leave to look at these documents and papers which are essential and have been each time refused. I have also affidavits to go with these motions. I have a note from Mr. Cooke, counsel managing the prosecution, saying he is otherwise engaged this morning."

The Court—I have also had a note from him. He thinks that an arrangement might be made for argument in the beginning of next week.

Mr. Totten—if we agree upon the day, how as to the convenience of the court?

The Court—Let me know the day before, and any time will suit me.

Robert G. Ingersoll expressed the hope that the argument would be fixed at a very early day, and he had to leave the city for some weeks next Thursday or Friday.

The Howgate case was before the grand jury to-day.

President Arthur has accepted an invitation to attend the Yorktown centennial ceremonies, and will go to Yorktown early next week.

A copy of the indictment against Guitreau and a list of the witnesses were read to him to-day in his cell at the jail. It is understood that Guitreau will be arraigned to-morrow for trial.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

District Attorney Corkhill said to-night that the arraignment of Guitreau would probably not take place this week, certainly not to-morrow. United States Deputy Marshal Williams served the custody warrant on Guitreau this morning, and he was brought to the court to be arraigned on a list of the witnesses for the prosecution, upon Guitreau at the jail this afternoon. The prisoner is entitled to two days' time after receiving this notice, in order to file his defense, and he has been given the opportunity to do so.

Mr. McPherson presented a memorial from twenty New York legislators, charging that the New York senators were not entitled to their seats, but they were sworn in first with the intention of investigating the charges afterwards. The president was then informed the senate was organized and ready for business.

Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution that the senate committees remain as they were last session, but under the rule the resolution was laid over till to-morrow.

The president notified the senate that he would communicate with them to-morrow, and the senate adjourned.

Many of the senators are going over to Baltimore to see the Oriole, an organization, something like the Mystic Owls.

The republicans are believed to be tired of Gorham, their caucus nominee for secretary of the senate, and will probably not offer much resistance to the election of the democratic candidate. It is almost certain that some of the republicans will not vote for Gorham.

To-morrow it is expected that Mr. Logan will move to make Mr. Davis president pro tem; that Mr. Davis will not vote in his own case, and this will leave the republicans a majority of one to elect him. Persons who have talked with Mr. Davis report him very anxious for the position.

In the Senate.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—In the senate, immediately after the reading of the journal, Mr. Edmunds rising to a question of the highest privilege, moved that the oath of office be administered to Nelson W. Aldrich, senator-elect from the state of Rhode Island.

There being no objection the motion was agreed to, and Mr. Aldrich was sworn in.

Mr. Edmunds then made a similar motion in the case of the senators-elect from New York.

Mr. McPherson interposed, and stated that he desired to present a petition pending that motion. He held in his hands a communication from certain members of the New York legislature, alleging certain reasons why Messrs. Lapham and Miller were not entitled to seats. With regard to these allegations he knew nothing. He did not present the petition with any desire to delay action upon the administration of the oath. He offered the petition, and would refer it at the proper time to the appropriate committee.

Mr. Edmunds says that as the petition referred to the propriety of swearing in the new senators from New York, he would not object to its reception at the present time.

The petition was received and laid upon the table, and the oath of office administered to the senators from New York.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. Pendleton and Anthony, was appointed by the presiding officer to await upon the president and inform him that the senate was ready to receive any communication he might be pleased to send them.

Then at 12:15 p.m. the senate took a recess.

Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution declaring that the standing committees of the senate, as they were constituted at the close of the last session of the senate, be continued for the present session and authorizing the president pro tem to fill any vacancies which may exist therewith.

Mr. Harris asked that the resolution lie over for one day under the rule. So ordered.

The committee appointed to wait upon the president reported that it had performed its duties and that the president stated that he would communicate in writing with the senate to-morrow.

Then the senate at 12:50 p.m. adjourned until to-morrow.

The Caucus.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—The democratic senators met in caucus at the capitol this morning at 10

AN INJURED WIFE

RELATES IN COURT THE STORY OF HER WRONGS.

Mrs. Christiany's Revelations on the Witness Stand.—The House of Ribaldry into Which Her Husband Introduced Her—A Pitiful Tale of Suffering on Two Continents.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—A few days since the court for Mrs. Christiany in the divorce suit now pending between her husband, ex-Minister Christiany, and herself, intimated to the attorneys for Christiany that he had no desire to make a witness of the wife in the case, and would prefer that the principals in the suit be not called upon to testify. The other side informed them that the ex-minister would be placed upon the stand, and his testimony taken at the proper time. Upon becoming acquainted with the fact, the counsel for Mrs. Christiany decided that in justice to themselves they must hear the testimony of their client in the case. Accordingly a session was held and the lady placed upon the witness stand, where she was kept three hours. In addition to the attorney ex-Senator Christiany was present and remained during the hearing. Mrs. Christiany was not being a competent witness as to the charges of adultery, her testimony was confined to acts of cruelty as alleged in her cross-bill. She testified that while residing in Lansing, Michigan, with her husband in the month of March, 1877, on one occasion he struck her and knocked her down. Again during the Christmas holidays in the year 1878, while they were residing in this city, he struck her and knocked her down during the night would not permit her to have any clothing on the bed. The weather was extremely cold and she arose and went to an adjoining room, trying to make herself more comfortable. When she started to leave the room which they had been occupying together he refused to permit her to take any clothing into the next room with her, and she was compelled to pass the night with the raiment she wore and what little could be found in the room that she had entered. In Peru in the month of August, 1879, while living at the legation, he struck her several times, and on one occasion pushed her out of the house and shut the door against her. Afterward she returned with her husband's son. He struck her again, and shut both himself and his son outdoors. He then called the son to come back, and told him if he went away with witness must be forever. The son answered that it would be forever, and kept on and escorted her to the hotel, where she remained all night. The next day he sent for her to come back, the messenger saying that he was very sick, delirious and in almost a dying condition. She went back to the legation, and instead of being sick, as stated, she found her husband quietly sitting in the sitting room in his right mind. He became very kind to her, and remained so until the next Monday. Then he came to her bed, abused her, pinched her, and used all sorts of violence, and said that he told an untrue truth when he said that he was sorry for the manner in which he had treated her. He then left the legation and went to the hotel, where he was seen to be in a usual orbit; but all men are a mixture of good and evil, and it is not to be expected that he would be an exception. After that he returned to the legation. The son, who was then about 12 years of age, was very kind to her, and it is believed that he was the cause of her recovery. The son, George, was very kind to her, and they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got out they would sit together with themselves and their father, use low language and have frequent brawls. She protested against being compelled to endure that kind of a life, and she was so grieved that she went to the court of divorce, and there she was granted a divorce at a division. When she got

AT THE EXPOSITION.

FACTS AND INCIDENTS OF THE DAY NOTED.

An Increasing Number of Visitors--The Decoration of the Halls--Notes on the Grounds and Among the People--The Visitors from Cincinnati and St. Louis--Opinions of the Press.

All is well at the grounds. The exhibits are fast getting in place in every building and in a few days there will be the grandest show, say one, ever seen in this country.

The number of visitors was large yesterday, and they all seemed very much interested. There is now no shadow of a doubt as to the complete, brilliant, and beautiful success of the enterprise.

The art hall was greatly improved yesterday and the main building showed great progress.

The judges' hall is complete and is one of the handsomest buildings on the grounds. Everything is moving along smartly. Before another week rolls by every man in Atlanta will be proud of a town which can produce such a show. There was on the grounds yesterday but one sentiment, that it was in eulogy of the energetic skill which has made Atlanta what she is and which will guarantee the success of this great undertaking. Already there is a generally expressed desire that the exposition shall continue beyond the limit set, for there will surely be enough to interest and amuse the people as long as the great collection can be kept together.

EXPOSITION NOTES.

The Cincinnati excursion has been postponed and will not reach Atlanta until next week.

The Georgia press will attack it to-day.

The three big engines work beautifully.

Major Nash says that in practical benefit it will beat the centennial.

Atlanta is humping herself, so to speak.

There were some of the railroad commissioners yesterday.

The management appears to be perfect.

Cincinnati is coming in strength on the 19th.

The visiting editors are studying the show.

All is peace on the grounds.

Florida is preparing to spring.

The shrubbery grows well.

Some of the finest cotton ever grown is entered for the big prize.

The railroad building is already enough to study a week.

Fire department complete on the grounds.

The police are getting used to their riggings.

Sharp competition among the spool cotton men.

The "Little World" attracts great admiration.

Everybody says Atlanta has a right to blow her horn.

Crowds expected next week.

Excursions to the Macon fair at low rates next week.

The successive closing of the St Louis and Cincinnati expositions, and of the Yorktown centennial celebration, will be followed by a rush of their exhibits and visitors to our International cotton exposition. The Cincinnati board of trade, which will arrive this evening, will doubtless be so well impressed as to make reports highly favorable. The St Louis exposition closed on Saturday last, and some of its exhibitors are no doubt already on the way. The Yorktown centennial will close next week, and we may reasonably expect that a number of its participants, both American and European, will improve the opportunity to repair to Atlanta and see here the greatest exposition of the year. We expect the steady augmentation of our exposition, for some time to come, by the accession of exhibits and visitors now detailed elsewhere.

Among the Exhibits.

On yesterday there entered THE CONSTITUTION office a sturdy, propulsive looking farmer who is doing more for Georgia in a practical way than perhaps the entire legislature did during the last session. We refer to Major J F Jones of Trump County, who lives near Hogansville and is one of the best farmers that the state has ever had. Mr Jones will make an exhibit at the exposition that will go very far towards redeeming the failure of the legislature to provide for an exhibit. He has honest, chisel-ground, sun-dried, 16-foot high, wheat, rye, oats, rye, corn that is 15% feet high, cotton in the seed as lint and in the bale, all grown on his own place and all of the very best quality. In size of grain and in yield and height of stalks the corn will compare favorably with it. If it does not surpass anything shown by Kansas or Colorado.

The success that has attended Major Jones's farming of late, and the radical reform that he has brought about in his neighborhood, will have so much interest that we give a short interview with him. He said:

"The whole secret of success in Georgia farming is to cultivate less land and cultivate it better. There is nothing that can be raised on any land that we cannot raise successfully and profitably in mid-Atlantic Georgia. If we only cultivate it right. Our farmers have always believed that it was their duty to plow every acre of land that had cleared as a consequence they have cultivated loosely, wastefully and with poor results. Whenever they reduce the amount of land and intensify the cultivation the state will be enriched as few men believe to be possible."

"Have you done this yourself?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my land and was seven thousand dollars in debt. I then went to Dr Moreland, told him my condition and said I had seven thousand dollars. He agreed to lend it to me and advised me to buy more mules and hire more labor and cultivate more land. But I had seen the folly of my ways, and changed my farm from a twenty-five acre farm, to a two acre farm and determine to cultivate what I did cultivate in the best style. I planted about twenty-five acres in cotton and made it average over a bale to the acre. I commenced raising my own corn, wheat, rye, oats, etc, and improving the little land I had reserved."

"What was the result of this?"

"It was that in three years instead of losing money, as heretofore, I had improved my place and had paid back almost the whole of the $7,000 that I had borrowed. This is my fifth crop since I reduced my farm and I am now entirely out of debt, have improved my home and buildings and farm and when this crop is marketed will have a comfortable surplus. There is no trouble in making money in Georgia if the farmer will only work intelligently."

"You may say that you averaged more than a bale to the acre?"

"Yes, sir, and I am willing to give my own experience in order that you may see how it works. After the war I had some money and considerable property and hired every negro that I could get my hands on, bought stock and commenced farming on a grand scale, cultivating every acre that I had and doing everything loosely.

In a few years I had nothing but my

AFFAIRS IN GEORGIA,

AS REPORTED BY THE CONSTITUTION'S CORRESPONDENTS.

Incauditor and Other Crimes in Gwinnett County—The Shooting of Mrs. Stephenson in Gwinnett County by Her Nephew—The Opinions of the People and the Press.

By Mail and Wire to The Constitution.

MARIETTA, October 11.—At 10 o'clock this morning the roof of Mrs. E. F. Anderson's kitchen was discovered in flames. The gallant boys of Marietta No. 1 were out with their steamer, and Captain Milton E. Bacon, of Aberdeen, Mississippi, and was married to Captain Yancey while he was confined to his room in LaGrange during the war, suffering from a wound received in battle. The devotion exhibited in her bridal was maintained through the long years of her husband's subsequent affliction. On account of rheumatism, Captain Yancey had needed a help-meet indeed, both at home and in his office. When singular circumstances had settled and the good wife took upon herself this double duty, doing a great deal of writing and keeping the ordinary's books in a style that elicited the commendation of the grand jury of the county. All who had business in the office will miss her pleasant smile and agreeable manners, but more deeply bereft than all is the invalid husband whose constant companion and assistant she was. Her record is high, and we trust that she has already entered upon her reward. Her funeral service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. Cole, assisted by the other pastors officiating. Followed by a large concourse of friends and acquaintances, her remains were borne on Saturday afternoon to the city cemetery, where they await the morning of resurrection. God give his grace to the stricken husband and comfort the mother, broken-hearted and sick, in another state.

ATHENS, October 10.—As yet the railroad rates cannot be counted as among the many attractions at the exposition. Our people are all anxious to attend and suppose most of them will do so, but are looking for a greater reduction than 2½ cents per mile, besides being obliged to pay by the grounds and subjected to the unpleasantness of a large crowd and ten cents additional each way. It is hoped the authorities will remedy this later, as it is one that has been a constant sight. Several carloads of sewer pipe for culverts on the Rome and Atlanta railroad have arrived.—A wedding between Atlanta and Marietta parties will occur this month.

ATLANTA, October 10.—Mr. "Punch" Dougherty, lost a little girl about twenty months old, last Saturday night, poisoned by eating castor oil. The potash had been injected to put in a soap pot and the child slipped a piece of bread it was eating in it. The same report is now made that she cannot get well. The testimony before the committing court showed that the gun used was an old army musket, and the ball which was fired had been moulded and one or two of the balls have been found. Since the shooting the superior court has been in session, and an application was made to Judge Erwin to fix bail for the prisoner's release. He said he would do so, and named $15,000 as the amount, which was a virtual denial, as there was no hope of Stephenson giving it. The judge did not intend that he should get out merely to run away and escape justice, as he certainly would do. The trial was not held because no one could tell the result of the wounds, and if she dies, as it is believed she must, it would not be safe to try for less than a hundred. In the wounds the woman has survived, and the fact that she has survived so long there is some similarity to the case of the dead president. It has seemed impossible that she could live a week longer at any stage of her case, and yet she is still alive. Instead of one wound she has three, all of them in the back near the kidneys. One of the balls is lodged in her spine and it is dangerous to attempt to extract it for fear of her immediate death. Altogether the case is decidedly interesting, and we will keep our readers posted about it as it progresses.

—Life is full of sorrows and disappointments, but the most sanguine hopes of all others who try Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, are always realized. It never disappoints. Price 25 cents.

—The way the money of the people goes is illustrated in the following: The amount sent by government officials at Calcutta, India, they cost about $15,000 according to a Pacific coast newspaper, and were paid for $65. This price does not seem to be paid by collusion, as the same article says that the man who would not accept them in exchange for a million can use them for firewood! The government is generally sure to pay a great deal for what it builds, and to get very little for what it sells.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate is a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy—a salve but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

MADE BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,

Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

janil—dry top col next to or fol read mat

DYE'S ELECTRO-VOLTAIC BELT.

30 DAYS TRIAL ALLOWED.

DYE'S ELECTRO-VOLTAIC BELT.

June 15, 1876

WE WILL SEND, ON 30 DAYS' TRIAL,

DR. DYE'S

Electro-Voltaic Appliances

TO MEN

suffering from Nervous Weaknesses, General Debility, loss of nerve force, or vigor, or any disease resulting from Ailments and OTHER CAUSES, or to ANY ONE afflicted with Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Epilepsy, Convulsions, Kidney or Liver Troubles, Lame Back, Ruptures, and other Diseases of the Vital Organs. ALSO WOMEN troubled with diseases peculiar to their sex.

—Speedy relief and complete restoration to health guaranteed. These are the only Electric Apparatus that have ever been invented upon the principles of Electricity. Their thorough efficacy has been practically proven with the most wonderful success, and they have the power to cure men, and from hundreds who have been quickly and radically cured by their use.

Send an a/c for Illustrated Pamphlet, giving all information free, Address, VOLTAIC BELT CO., Marshall, Mich.

junes—dry suw wed friwkwyly

HUMPHREYS' SPECIFICS.

In use 30 years.—Each number the special preparation of the following:—1. Simple and Safe Sure Med cures for the people.

LIST SPECIAL NO. CURE PRICE

1. Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic, 25

2. Crying Colic or Teething of Infants, 25

3. Diphtheria, Croup, 25

4. Dystentery, Griping, Bilious Colic, 25

5. Cholera, Malaria, Vomiting, 25

6. Neuralgia, Toothache, Faccache, 25

7. Headaches, Sciatica, Neuralgia, 25

8. Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, 25

9. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

10. White, too Frequent, 25

11. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

12. White, too Frequent, 25

13. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

14. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

15. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

16. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

17. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

18. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

19. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

20. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

21. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

22. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

23. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

24. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

25. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

26. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

27. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

28. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

29. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

30. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

31. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

32. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

33. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

34. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

35. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

36. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

37. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

38. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

39. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

40. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

41. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

42. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

43. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

44. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

45. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

46. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

47. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

48. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

49. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

50. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

51. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

52. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

53. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

54. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

55. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

56. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

57. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

58. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

59. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

60. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

61. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

62. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

63. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

64. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

65. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

66. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

67. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

68. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

69. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

70. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

71. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

72. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

73. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

74. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

75. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

76. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

77. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

78. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

79. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

80. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

81. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

82. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

83. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

84. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

85. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

86. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

87. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

88. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

89. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

90. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

91. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

92. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

93. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

94. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

95. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

96. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

97. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

98. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

99. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

100. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

101. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

102. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

103. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

104. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

105. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

106. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

107. Suppressed or Painful Periods, 25

&lt;p

THE CONSTITUTION,

PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION is published every day except Monday, and is delivered by carriers in the city, or mailed postage free at $1 per month, $6 for three months, or $10 a year.

THE CONSTITUTION, is for sale on all trains leading out of Atlanta, and at newsstands in the principal southern cities.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION, published every Friday, mailed postage free at $1.50 a year—ten copies $11.50—twenty copies $20. Sample copies sent free upon application. Agents wanted at every post-office where territory is not occupied.

ADVERTISING rates depend on location in the paper and will be furnished on application.

CORRESPONDENCE containing important news is solicited from all parts of the country.

UNDER no circumstances will the editors undertake to preserve or return manuscripts not available for publication.

ADDRESS all letters and telegrams, and make all drafts and checks payable to

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 12, 1881.

BAYARD has his bauble.

CHARLEY did it with his little yardstick.

The scratcher was abroad in Ohio yesterday.

The temerity of Bayard's partisans is pitiable.

One seems to have taken another yard of calico.

The average voter does not seem inclined to turn out.

KRUEPP's work for America is in the right direction.

Iowa had to struggle with a thunderstorm as well as an election.

The New York convention is in what might be called a prolonged session.

VERY little should be said about Bayard's lost backbone. It might make the squire mad.

The democrats might have made Malone president of the senate, but then Bayard's record was longest.

FOSTER knew the dark corners better than Bookwalter. And besides Bookwalter had no yardstick. All truly good men should have ours.

THE OCCUPATION of hostile soil is becoming a dangerous pastime for international plunders. England has had experience in Afghanistan, and France is now learning the lesson in Tunis.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE charges that the democrats "are bent upon stealing the presidency" because they "insist on electing the president pro tem of the senate. Even stealing it would hardly be as criminal as the means by which the stalwarts obtained it. But the Tribune need not be uneasy. The democrats can look back upon the history of our presidential elections and proudly say, 'ne'er yet did foul dishonor blur our name.'

Afternoon the democrats have met with defeat in Ohio, it is just to say that Mr. Bookwalter did remarkably well. The fact that he held the party together at all at a time when sentiment and sympathy were so thoroughly aroused on the other side, would be a tribute to him, but when we observe that he reduced the opposition majority of former years, we must accord him the full credit of a brilliant canvass. It was Garfield's grave that elected Foster.

SECRETARY WINDOM's declared anxiety to retire from the cabinet as quickly as possible, and his reported hastening applications to the president to appoint his successor, would seem to be indicative of some dissatisfaction of the new administration with his acts as secretary, or with his financial policy. As Mr. Windom and Attorney-General MacVeagh only of the Garfield cabinet had struck out into new channels of administration, it is an interesting question whether their reported impatience in their positions is significant of a disapproval of the course which they have taken. They had received the support of the people of the country generally, and will retire with the credit of having made a good beginning.

A REPUBLICAN JOAB.

Some old writer has said that three difficulties will surround a man, four capture him, and five smother him. Senator Edmunds is in the position of a man who is smothered; he has five formidable difficulties to contend with. In the first place, he is from Vermont; in the second place, he is gifted; in the third place, he has an intimate acquaintance with his gifts; in the fourth place, there is a democratic party; in the fifth place, he looks fondly towards the white house. It is fair to say that the place the democratic party occupies among Mr. Edmunds's difficulties is not a prominent one. It is no such trifling difficulty, for instance, as the fact that Mr. Edmunds is from Vermont. No statesman could by any possibility come from Vermont. In that state, the republicans have the funds, and as a consequence the democratic party is regularly bought out. If the democrats had control of sufficient money, there would be no republican party in the state. These facts are well understood by the politicians of both parties, so that the result of a Vermont election has about as much effect on public opinion elsewhere as the testimony of a Louisiana witness has upon the verdict of an honest jury. With respect to Mr. Edmunds's gifts, it may be said that he has studied them until they have magnified themselves to his imagination. He is an excellent lawyer, but he believes he is a statesman. He is an excellent lawyer because he knows just when to introduce a series of quibbles. These quibbles are familiar to the country. They are frequently amusing and sometimes impressive. Especially are they impressive when the gifted senator has returned to his seat fresh from an excursion in search of iced tea. Of all the senator's difficulties, as we have intimated, the democratic party is the least, principally because the democratic party is disposed to be amused at him. The senator, however, is inclined to believe that it is the greatest. As the self-styled attorney of the republican gang, Mr. Edmunds is fretted and worried and troubled because the democratic party has the temerity to oppose his rascally client. This, of course, makes the situation still more amusing, so that when the gifted senator rises and steadies himself at his desk for the purpose of quibbling, the more reserved senators on both sides look grieved, while the less decorous open and shut their desks in order to hide their smiles.

We mention these things because they are likely to be of interest now that Senator Edmunds has taken the place of the equally gifted Dawes as the leader of the republican senators. As we have said, he has heretofore been the attorney of the republican party, and hence his quibblings were in order; but the moment he assumed the leadership of the party in the senate, he identified himself with the most heartless attack that has ever been made on the stalwart gang of which he is a prominent disciple. He called attention to the fact that this gang had profited by the "lottery of assassination," and furiously denounced the democrats because the situation demanded that they should elect a temporary president of the senate. Whether this Joab stab at Arthur and Conkling was the result of cold tea, or whether it was the result of that grim puritanism which delights in making even one's best friends uncomfortable, will probably never be known; nor is it necessary that it should be known. It is enough to know that the senator has given the democrats a phrase which peculiarly fits the new stalwart administration. For this we thank Mr. Edmunds, and congratulate him on the fact that he has ceased to be a quibbler and become a leader. We know who held the winning ticket in the "lottery of assassination."

NOW "STICK."

We are pleased by the exhibition of what is commonly termed "backbone" by the democratic United States senator on Monday. It is a quality in which the party has been sadly deficient in several important emergencies of late years. We ought more properly to say that a few timid or conceding members have forced the whole party into a yielding policy, because a firm stand could not be maintained with unanimity. It is full time for the democratic party to estimate properly the fact that they are a majority of the American people, and for the last five years, at least, have only lost the administration of the government by the frauds of their opponents or their own mismanagement or blunders. One of the most disastrous of these blunders has been the yielding spirit manifested when republicans minorities made a furtive fight. Let us hope that the advantage gained on Monday by a display of firmness in adhering to law, precedent and right will be maintained hereafter whenever occasion may require it.

We do not attach any great importance to the possession of the presidency pro tem. of the senate in itself by a democrat. The probability of a succession to the presidency of the United States is a slim one, and even if such an event should accidentally occur, the laws in force limit it to a few months' duration by providing for a special presidential election. It would be impolitic, even if strictly justifiable, for a president pro tem. of the senate, on his temporary succession to the presidency of the United States, to distract to any great extent the civil service machinery of the government, because extensive changes for so brief a period might only derange the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned out at any time and under any executive administration; but a general change on account of party relations would hardly be the advisable or fair thing by an accidental president holding the position for only a few months. It holds, however, that he reduced the administration and be productive of blunders if not of corruption. Of course, dishonest or incompetent officials ought to be turned

JOHN H. SARRATT.

What the Man Who Was Nearly Hanged is Doing.
A Baltimore correspondent of the Indianapolis Sentinel writes: Though I had not seen it for five years, I knew the face the moment I put my eyes on it yesterday as I landed on the Old Dominion wharf from the Norfolk steamer. The straight, erect, lithe, military form had not changed; the long sandy moustache and goatee a la Napoleon III, were the same as years before; the firm, steady, bright eyes were as bright as ever; the man now as before, the man of character, and his step was as light and springy as in the years of our youth, when he and I had tramped the fields and waded the meadows of Prince George's county, Maryland, with John H. Sarratt. He has not aged a whit in fifteen years. Even age has failed to leave its mark, save in a steadier gait and more thoughtful countenance. The same sense of fearless that marked him when a boy as one of unusual determination, as one of decisive and firm character, makes him remarkable yet among men standing 3 feet 11 inches high, and an arm's length. His form strikes the observer forcibly as being a military man of martinet discipline. The protrusive development of the frontal bone between the eyebrows is noticeable, as is also the slight hump which governs this strange man's life. Nerve and will and a love of adventure. Those are the main ingredients of the character of this man, who was the author of the "Old Dominion Line," the "Old Dominion," and whose mother's death hangs a perpetual pall of disgrace over this people. On inquiring I learned much of Sarratt's life in the past fifteen years. At present he is engaged on the wharf in the freight department of the Norfolk steamboat company, generally called the "Old Dominion Line."

WIFE-MURDER.

Two Brutal Cases Reported from New York.
NEW YORK, October 10.—While drunk Saturday night, John O'Connor fatally shot his wife at their apartments in east Fifty-ninth street. Her son by a former husband witnessed the shooting and assisted his mother to bed, where she was allowed to bleed to death, no physician being called.

Thomas McKeever, wife have been legally separated some eight years. This morning he saw the woman in the butcher shop of A E Allen, 341 West 36th street, seized her by the shoulder and exclaiming, "I've got you at last," dashed her in the abdomen. The woman cannot live. McKeever landed at Castle Garden Saturday.

A Disastrous Fire.

NEW YORK, October 10.—A fire broke out about 7 o'clock in the Fourth avenue car stables, owned by William H. Vanderbilt. The flames spread rapidly, owing to a strong wind. The stable occupied the entire block. They were entirely burned. A number of horses perished in the flames. The estimated loss on the stables and contents is $20,000. The horses set fire to Morris' furniture store, which was also destroyed. This building occupied the middle of a block on the south side of Thirty-second street. The loss on this building and its contents is estimated at $10,000. The horses in the stable in which the car was stored there, and it was all destroyed. Among the articles thus burned was a picture owned by William H. Vanderbilt, valued at $50,000, which was burned.

He Presumed too Much.

WYTHEVILLE, Va., October 11.—Charles Jones and his wife were walking along the road near their home, six miles from here yesterday when Henry Crockett met them and presuming upon a long acquaintance, addressed Jones as "Sir" in a jocular manner, which, however, was offensive, and the couple turned to their husband, who went into the house, got his gun and shot Crockett dead.

Fatal Fight Between Brothers.

LOUISVILLE, October 10.—In a quarrel this evening between two brothers, Bud and Henry Barrett, over the loan of a sum of twenty-five cents, the latter shot his brother in the head, Bud being killed and shooting the two had fought, during which Henry was so badly cut that he will die. The row began in the room of the mother and ended in an adjoining apartment.

Disappearance of a Passenger.

NEW YORK, October 11.—One of the passengers of the "Lucky" boat, lost on Friday night. His coat, wallet and traveling bag were found in his suitcase. In the pockets were cards with the address, "August Brancum, superintendent of the Cleveland rolling mill company," a gold watch and a locket with the monogram "A. B."

Caught by a Wronged Husband.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 8.—Dr Newton, formerly corseer here, was arrested in New York with his ex-wife, swindling, speculating with Gardner A. Miller, who, by device, procured a large amount of goods from Daniel A. Goodman, to be shipped in the Marque Western Sea. Newton represented himself as an agent of the Peppered manufacturing company.

A Boston Swindler.

BOSTON, October 8.—Dr Newton, formerly corseer here, was arrested in New York with his ex-wife, swindling, speculating with Gardner A. Miller, who, by device, procured a large amount of goods from Daniel A. Goodman, to be shipped in the Marque Western Sea. Newton represented himself as an agent of the Peppered manufacturing company.

The Gorilla Massacre.

CLEVELAND, October 8.—A letter was sent to-day to the governors of all states and territories to secure funds for the erection of a monument over the grave of the "President" of Gorilla Lake View cemetery, asking contributions and assistance of citizens of the different states and territories.

Counterfeiting Don Raffield.

CINCINNATI, October 10.—The Inter-Ocean reports the seizure of a counterfeiting establishment in that city, which was operated by a man calling himself Nelson, and two women, sold it for $1,000 and another in-law. A number of moulds for silver coin were captured. Nelson escaped; the women were arrested.

A Tangled Thread.

MONTGOMERY, October 11.—The "Sun" reports that Sunday Jessie Martin, a white woman, called C. H. Wood, colored, out of his cabin, and after asking why he had reported his infraction of the internal revenue laws, fired two loads of buckshot into Wood's body. The negro died in a few hours. Martin has not yet been arrested.

Swindled by Spiritualists.

NEW YORK, October 8.—John A. Lanning, of New York, charged that a精神ist, Mrs. Ward, of Philadelphia, has been arrested. Mrs. Lanning claims that Mrs. Ward and Miss Ward, spiritualists, told her that they were sent by the Lord to protect her. She intrusted her property to them, and asked them to return it.

Mr. Tilden Doesn't Want It.

NEW YORK, October 10.—Samuel J. Tilden, in a letter to a candidate for nomination at the democratic convention, writes that he has no idea of returning to the government, even if it flattened myself! I would receive the unanimous vote of the people.

A Skirmish.

QUEBEC, October 10.—The steamer Corseal, which left here Saturday for Glasgow, went ashore at St. Valter, about 20 miles below here, Saturday night owing thick weather. Assistance has been sent to her.

The Virginia Doctor.

FORTRESS MONTE, October 11.—The Virginia medical society will meet here to-day at Hyatt's hotel, for two days' session, after which they will visit Yorktown.

The Jews in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 8.—It is said that the government intends to allow the Jews to acquire land in places where there is no fear of a collision between them and the populace.

Goldwin Smith's Misfortune.

TORONTO, October 8.—Professor Goldwin Smith was proposed as an honorary member of St. George's society last night and rejected. It is supposed to be on account of his alleged leanings toward annexation.

Assassinated.

ST. PAUL, Minn., October 10.—John Graham was shot dead by unknown persons as he was driving home after dark after selling a load of wheat for his employer. Search was made for the murderer.

Sewing Girl's Suicide.

MILWAUKEE, October 10.—Ida Warner, a sewing girl, committed suicide in her room, last Thursday, and her body was not discovered till Saturday.

A Highwayman Sentenced.

GALVESTON, October 8.—A news special Austin says that Hank White, a noted highwayman, recently arrested in New Mexico, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for 10 years.

A Second Trial.

BOSTON, October 8.—With Boston iron company, with liabilities of about $200,000, suspended payment to-day. Their assets are said to be ample.

Archbishop Croke of Cashel, in his reply to the address from a branch of the land league, after acknowledging the good points of the land act said its real value must be estimated by the reduction of rents, and grants, which were preparing to make were most reasonable, and that the rents which were now living in some respects inferior to savages. A fair settlement of the land question would be to give the landlords whatever remained after the taxes and expenses were deducted, and the land and houses and their families provided

SMOKING TOBACCO.

DUKE OF DURHAM

CIGARETTES.

SMOKING TOBACCO

It has been stated by some that Cigarette smoking is a very injurious habit, because most of the goods now on the market are adulterated with poisonous drugs and the close competition drives the manufacturers to using cheap and common paper for Wrappers, which we admit will, in time, injure any man.

We have started the manufacture of Cigarettes with the intention not to compete with others in price, but to give the FINEST AND PUREST CIGARETTES THAT CAN BE MADE and let the SMOKER pay what is necessary to produce such an article. We feel confident you will uphold us in this. We don't pretend that our goods are cheaper than others, but we do say that they are THE BEST on the market and are guaranteed to be free from any adulteration whatever and rolled in the finest imported French Rice Paper, thus giving a pure, healthy, enjoyable smoke, and which can be inhaled with impunity.

It is hardly necessary to call attention to our Smoking Tobaccos, which we have been manufacturing for the past seventeen years. But as some are liable to be misled by the flaming wall signs of one of our competitors, we will simply say that the old brand, DUKE OF DURHAM, still remains the best and purest granulated Smoking Tobacco on the market and will continue to be the standard of excellence for the pipe smoker, as we very carefully remove all stems, dust and other impurities, by a patent process.

Our motto is: "Free Trade and Sailor's Rights," and the best goods on the market regardless of cost. We have no intention of monopolizing the smoking tobacco business, but want only the patronage of those who can appreciate a fine article, leaving the trade of those who are satisfied with smoking any common tobacco to the large number of manufacturers who are anxious to supply such goods.

ASK FOR THE DUKE AND SEE THAT HIS PICTURE AND OUR NAME IS ON EEVERY PACKAGE.

W. DUKE, SONS & CO.,

DURHAM, N. C.

THE EXCELSIOR STOVE HOUSE
HEADQUARTERS FOR STOVES, RANGES,
HOT AIR FURNACES,

HARD COAL, SELF-FEEDING PARLOR STOVES.

MARBLEIZED IRON AND SLATE MANTELS.

PLAIN AND ENAMELED GRATES A SPECIALTY.

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.

PLAIN AND STAMPED TIN WARE, GAS FITTINGS,

CHANDELIER, PENDANTS, BRACKETS, GLOBES,

PLUMBERS AND STEAM FITTERS SUPPLIES, BATH TUBS,

WATER CLOSETS, MARBLE SLABS, STEAM WHISTLES, JET PUMPS, RUBBER HOSE, ETC.

We have the largest stock and greatest variety of goods, in our line, that has ever been offered in this city, and all bought before the recent advance. We are better prepared to serve our friends and the public generally than ever. Our stock is large and at reasonable prices, and must be sold. So save time and money by sending your orders or come and make your purchases of

HUNNICKT & BELLINGRATH,

36 AND 38 PEACHTREE STREET.

AGENTS FOR KNOWLES'S STEAM PUMPS.

Manufacturers of Concrete Sewer and Drain Pipe. Galvanized Iron and Tin work a specialty.

oct 20 d3m sun wed

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

MEDICINE CHEST IN ITSELF APPLIED VEGETABLE MEDICINE
For INTERNAL and EXTERNAL USE.
THE OLDEST BEST & MOST WIDELY KNOWN FAMILY MEDICINE.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER
IS A PURELY VEGETABLE REMEDY
FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL USE.

A Sure and Speedy Cure for Scro Throat, Coughs, Colds, Diphtheria, Chills, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cramps, Cholera, Summer Complaint, Fick Headache, Neuralgia, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Rheumatism, etc. Perfectly safe to use internally, externally, and certain to afford relief. No family can afford to be without it.

5-d&wly october whole next read mat

WHEAT Dealers make Money with
W. T. SOULE & CO., 180
La Salle Street, Chicago.
III. Write for particulars.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No opium till cured
Dr. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon Ohio

AMUSEMENTS.

OCT. 24 &amp; 25.

20 TRAINED ELEPHANTS
FOREPAUGH SHOW!

MONTASSEM EAST INDIAN
SNAKE CHARMER.

ZUILA
WHEELING HER LITTLE CHILD OVER
A SLENDER
WIRE 100 FEET
IN MID AIR.

First Really Great Show that Has Ever Visited the South! will exhibit at ATLANTA TWO DAYS, Afternoon and night.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY, OCT. 24 & 25.
THREE GRAND PERFORMANCES ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25th, COMMENCING AT 10 A. M.

On Marietta street, opposite the Rolling Mill. Street cars, for a nickel, leave 4th street directly at entrance to the grand Pavilion. 17th consecutive season, and first grand southern tour. Positively largest exhibition in the world. Everywhere thousands unable to gain admission. At Louisville, Nashville, Montgomery, New Orleans, thousands upon thousands in attendance. The very best people the most. Everything new for the season. Millions Expended for a single Holiday.

HUGE PERFORMING ELEPHANTS. All appearing in the Double Colossal Circus in Two Great Rings, inclosing an area large enough to exhibit all the circuses in America. And Trained Wild Beast Show and Living Wonders in Two Rings.

1,500 BEASTS, BIRDS AND TRAINED ANIMALS!

3 Great Railway Trains! Seats for 15,000! Pavilions Cover Acres! Daily Expenses $1,000! Mammoth Manager! Trained Wild Beast Show and World's Fair-gathering of Earth's Living Wonders! Just added:

20 Trained Reason-Gifted Stallions!

Trick Horses and Ponies. All Europe swept by its attractions. Engagement there, first appearance here. Of the Great World's latest surprising sensation, the Great SELBUNI and VILLION TROUPE OF GYMNASTIC CYCLERS. SELBUNI, the Female, Blinding, at each Exhibition in her great and marvelous performances: Wheeling a Baby Over 3-4 Inch Wire 100 Feet in Mid-Air?

Riding a Velocipede Over a Slender Wire 100 Feet Above the Heads of the Audience.

LOYLA, the MAX METEOR, BLOWN FROM A CANNON LOADED WITH GYMNASTIC CYCLERS. All Europe's Greatest Riders in the Circus in Separate Rings. Trained Giraffes, Performing Lions, Tigers and other animals. Bible Bohemian, Unicorns, Sea Lions, a wilderness of rare animals and birds, Monday, October 24.

GREATEST, GRANDEST PAGEANT

Ever beheld upon the streets of an American city. The beautiful Oriental Romance of LALIA ROOKH, illustrating her departure from Delhi. Now produced for the first time in America. $200,000 expended in the making. Large and lavish sets, pageants, court and scenes, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Large and elaborate. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual admission price. Exhibition Afternoon and Evening, at 2-3 P. M. and 8-9 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Not to be missed. Not to be equalled. Handsome Wives in America. For appearing in this pageant of the scene of the great Forepaugh Show, marking the longest, largest and most elaborate pageant ever made in the land, and the scenes in the land, at 10 A. M. to 12 M. Usual

LOCAL TIN-TYPES

FROM OUR REPORTERS' POCKET CAMERAS.

Yesterday in the City—What was Done and Said by Men—Folks and Strangers—The Goings of the Town as Taken on the Fly—In and About the Courts and Departments.

FEEDERS—Fake Emanuel superintendent of the city chain-gang, yesterday released three prisoners who have given the city thirty-four days work. They were Stewart Turner, who went up for 4 days, Alonso Deakle for 10 days, Lizzie Patterson for 20 days.

COFFEE—Both of the leading steam fire engine manufacturers are represented now in Atlanta by agents and principals, and an early contest will likely take place in the city. The Shiloh company of Seneca, S. Y., and the La France company of Elmsira, N. Y., will enter the contest.

VERY ILL—The many friends and acquaintances of the Hon. David May will be interested to learn that he is lying very seriously ill in his residence in the city street. His very prominent physician has been called to his aid and are in constant attendance, and hopes are entertained of his speedy convalescence and recovery.

SENT TO THE QUARRY—Seven additions were made to the city chain-gang yesterday. The recruits are from labor was acquired there. The recruits are from Kelly for 29 days; Annie Castleberry for 20 days; Salter Blacksheep for 20 days; Jas Robinson for 4 days; Chas Harrelson for 2 days.

TRAPPER—Officer Christopher yesterday, at the solicitation of a gentleman residing near the city limits, arrested C. Sonthill. The complainant alleged that the defendant had been cutting the traps in the street. The very prominent physician has been called to his aid and are in constant attendance, and hopes are entertained of his speedy convalescence and recovery.

SENT TO THE QUARRY—Seven additions were made to the city chain-gang yesterday. The recruits are from labor was acquired there. The recruits are from Kelly for 29 days; Annie Castleberry for 20 days; Salter Blacksheep for 20 days; Jas Robinson for 4 days; Chas Harrelson for 2 days.

ENTRANCE CONSTITUTION—In reply to the suggestion of my name in your paper Sunday morning, as a suitable person to represent the fifth ward in the next council, and also in reply to many citizens, who made personal appeals to me to be a candidate, allow me to say that I cannot accept your circumstances consent to be a candidate. I am very grateful.

RADICAL STANDER—About 6 o'clock last night the Freeman and Charley Howell, two well-known colored crooks, undertook to settle an old grudge by resorting to blows. In the fracas Freeman got badly worsted, and drawing his knife pursued Howell's antagonist with a blow that felled him to the ground. The knife entered the body just under the right shoulder-blade, and passing down made an ugly and probably dangerous wound.

THE FEATS OF LU LU—The wonderful Zulus the 3 circus companies, all going simultaneously in three immense circus rings, all terminating with the novel and exciting hippo-suites of the most pectoral. * * * Comp has veritably distanced all competitors, and will win the plaudits of admiring thousands wherever he may pitch his tents.—Boston Transcript, April 29th, 1881.

HABEAS CORPUS—Annie Scandrich, the daughter of the James Scandrich, blacksmith, father of the Negro child, whose mother is Dilsey Miller. The child is five years of age and has until a few days ago resided with its mother. One day last week Scandrich petitioned Judge Hilley to make the child a ward of the court, so that it might be properly educated, and at the same time asked for the custody of the child. After an investigation of the case, the judge grants the petition and directed Scandrich to receive his child, and the mother objecting to the decision and declined to obey the mandate of the court. Scandrich then went before Judge Calhoun and procured a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted yesterday and which resulted in Scandrich securing the possession of his heir.

OPENING EXERCISES—The twenty-fourth annual course of lectures in the Atlanta Normal college opened with an interesting address by Dr. J. S. Todd at 11 o'clock. The exercises will take place at the college, corner of Jenkins and Butler streets, and having in the past always been of a most interesting character, it is expected that a large number of our citizens and prospects of the college are highly gratified and it continues to reap the reward of merit, and to retain the confidence and esteem of the faculty. The faculty of the school consists of Dr. W. F. Wren, Dr. W. A. Love, V. H. Tadlock, A. W. Calhoun, J. H. Logan, H. V. Miller, W. S. Armstrong, J. S. Todd and Jas. Gray.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT—between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday an almost serious accident occurred near the exposition grounds. The engine which pulls the exposition train had been detached from the end of the train to which it was hooked, and had at first gone down the track, and then up to the end to be coupled to the coach when the lever became unmanageable, causing the engine to strike the platform of the coach with great force. There was a collision at which the engine struck the platform, which passing under elevated it several feet. The bumper then struck the tank with such force that it was broken, and the engine, running into the tank, and a bar of cotton to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

CASE—Late yesterday evening George Jackson, an employee of a gentleman who has several wagons on the streets, was badly injured on Hunter street, near the city hall. Jackson was driving a wagon loaded with cotton, and was sitting on top of the load when he struck a bar of cotton, throwing the wagon and a bar of cotton to the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

TEN and COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died, and was buried in the ground. In the fall Jackson was next to the ground, and was badly crushed by the weight of the bar. When the accident occurred there was no one nearer than Frazee street, and the unfortunate man remained beneath the weight for several minutes. When the cotton was removed Jackson was in an unconscious condition, and the streams of blood from his head and mouth were so copious as to think him dead. A physician was summoned and the injured man removed to an adjacent house, where it was ascertained that his left arm was dislocated, and the other arm and the one on the right side were broken. Late in the evening he was removed to his home on May street, beyond the Air-Line depot.

LAW AND COSTS—Some weeks ago several darkies were arraigned before Becker Glenn for trial upon the charge of disorderly conduct. The man witness against the accused parties was Nathaniel Burke, a colored man, who by the way was one of the most notorious characters in the city field memorial day, and upon whose testimony the charges were sustained. Soon after the cases were dismissed, and the persons who were found were sure that they would never be easy again. They had whipped Burke for testifying against them, and on Monday night York Moore, one of the crowd, attempted to kill him with a revolver. Burke was shot in the head and died,

CHAMBERLIN, BOYNTON &amp; CO.

HAVE NOW IN

The most complete stock of Dry Goods, embracing all the latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS PLUSHES, RHADMAS, LADIES' CLOTHES, BEAUTIFUL NEW STYLES BLACK GOODS, HOSIERY—IN LADIES, GENTS, CHILDREN'S.

TABLE LINEN—TOWELS, SHEETINGS, ETC.

ALSO, LARGEST STOCK

CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, WINDOW SHADES.

LACE CURTAINS, LAMBREQUINS, ETC.

And the best stock Ladies, Gents, Misses and Children's BOOTS and SHOES ever shown by us. All departments now full and selling fast. Call and see the prettiest goods ever shown here.

CHAMBERLIN, BOYNTON &amp; CO.,

66 AND 68 WHITEHALL AND 1 TO 15 HUNTER ST

AGENT BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Fine Cutlery, Silver plate ware, China, Lamps, Mirrors, Show Cases, Seth Thomas Clocks, Gate City Water Filters, China Dinner, Tea and Toilet Sets, Vases, Statuary, Parisian Parlor and Dining Room Lamps, Hotel and Saloon Fixtures, largest stock and lowest prices in the South at McLride's China Palace, opposite Kimball House.

Justly above we top col.

COTTON AND WEATHER.

COTTON, middling uplands closed in Liverpool yesterday, at 6/4d; in New York, 11 9/10c; in Atlanta, 10c.

The Weather. The Signal Service Bureau report indicates for Georgia 66° fair weather, easterly winds, stationary or lower barometer, stationary or higher temperature.

Daily Weather Report. OBSERVER'S OFFICE, SIGNAL CORPS, U. S. A., KIMBALL HOUSE, October 11, 10:31 P. M. All observations taken at the same moment of actual time.

NAME OF STATION.	Barometer.	Thermometer.	Dew Point.	WIND.	Weather.
Atlanta	30.40 60	46	N. E.	Fresh	.00 Fair.
Augusta	30.45 64	46	N. E.	Light	.00 Fair.
Columbus	30.45 64	46	N. E.	Light	.00 Fair.
Galveston	30.45 64	46	N. E.	Light	.00 Fair.
Indians	30.45 64	46	N. E.	Light	.00 Fair.
Key West	30.09 78	46	N. E.	Brisk	.00 Clear.
Mobile	30.21 77	46	S. E.	Fresh	.00 Clear.
Montgomery	30.27 72	46	S. E.	Fresh	.00 Clear.
Poplar Bluff	30.27 72	46	S. E.	Fresh	.00 Clear.
Pensacola	30.22 78	46	S. E.	Fresh	.00 Clear.
Patterson	30.37 66	46	N. E.	Fresh	.00 Clear.

NOTE—FORCE OF WIND: Light, 1 to 2 miles per hour, inclusive; Gentle, 2 to 5, inclusive; Fresh, 9 to 14 inclusive; Fresh, 16 to 29, inclusive; High, 30 to 39, inclusive.

Local Weather Report.

ATLANTA, GA., October 11, 1881.

TIME.	Barometer.	Thermometer.	Dew Point.	WIND.	Weather.
6:31 a. m.	30.40 56	45	N. E.	Fresh	.00 Clear.
10:31 "	30.43 66	46	N. E.	Brisk	.00 Clear.
2:00 p. m.	30.43 66	46	N. E.	Brisk	.00 Clear.
2:31 "	30.43 66	46	N. E.	Brisk	.00 Clear.
4:31 "	30.37 66	46	N. E.	Fresh	.00 Fair.
10:31 "	30.40 61	46	N. E.	Fresh	.00 Fair.
Mean daily bar.	30.385	46	Maximum ther.	71.5
Mean daily ther.	62.9	46	Minimum ther.	58.2
Mean daily humid.	55.3	46	Total rainfall.	.00

H. HALL.

Sergeant Signal Corps, U. S. A.

Rogers & Sons, and John Russell's Cutlery and Plated-ware; Haviland & Co.'s China, from France; Cut-Glass from Germany, Belgium and France; Earthenware, English and Domestic, in endless varieties and decorations, imported by myself direct from the manufacturers. I challenge competition in prices, style and quality.

HENRY SELTZER.

now 24—dly 1st pre loc.

Hymes's Famous N. Y. Clothing House, 7 Whitehall street. The place where you can get the best clothing and furnishing goods for the least money.

NEW GOODS.

A. F. PICKERT,
No. 5 Whitehall Street,

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

He just received a large stock of all the new designs in Meriden Britannia Company Electro Silver Plated Ware. Parties wishing Bridal Presents will do well to call and examine my stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Full stock of Rogers Bro's All Spoons, Forks and Knives always on hand. Special attention given to Watch and Jewelry Work.

CENTENNIAL BUILDING.

For superior quality of SPECTACLES and EYE GLASSES in Gold, silver and Steel, you will find them at No. 5 Whitehall street. Be not induced to pay high prices for inferior glasses. I guarantee a perfect fit every pair, well and as I guarantee the veracity of Lenses in White and Tinted, guarantee every pair to give satisfaction for four years. Give me a trial before purchasing elsewhere.

A. F. PICKERT,

Wholesale and Retail Jeweler.

See our unsurpassed $10 business suits.

EDENMAN BROS.

55 Whitehall street.

Finest assortment of boys and children's suits in the city.

EDENMAN BROS.

55 Whitehall street.

"rough on Rate."

The thing desired found at last. Ask druggists for "rough on Rate." Fleas, rat rats, mice, roaches, flies, bed-bugs, 15 cents box.

W. H. HARRISON, Publisher.

Our custom department replaces with the latest novelties of the season.

EDENMAN BROS.

55 Whitehall street.

Some of the most active men of the New York stock exchange, G. H. Height, president; C. Minshew, treasurer; H. E. Dillingham, vice-president; S. V. White and T. C. Buck, trustees, have incorporated a new electric light company, under a patent granted to them by the U. S. Patent Office. This company covered a new and departure in electricity, and has produced what they consider a most wonderful lamp which stands pre-eminent in its size, perfect and unshaded, and which is so constructed that it cannot flutter or waver, and claimed to be the only light possessing this property. The Edison stock is reported to be selling at $1,000 per share, and it is expected that the new and improved Edison light company will be in demand at a premium over the present price, after the present offerings are sold.

With E. E. Young, member of the New York stock exchange, 30 Broad street, New York, is agent for the company.—Mining Record.

having just been bought at a recent large sale at prices herefore unheard of.

Look at these prices:

Ingrain carpet at 35c.

Carpets at 20c.

Ingrain carpets at 40c, worth 60 cents.

Good design in carpets at 50c, cheap at 75c.

Splendid design in ingrain carpets at 60c.

Brussels carpets away below former prices.

Lambrequins, lace curtains at prices never heard of before.

Bargains, bargains are now being offered at

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union Springs, Alabama, for sale. Brick building, 24 furnished rooms. Splendid inducements offered to a small company.

B. A. FLAMING.

new ditth sun tues

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

W. H. BROTHERTON.

FOR SALE

A fine bar counter. Apply at Kimball House store room.

oct11—d21

Cheap Millinery.

Ladies will find it to their interest to call at Mrs. A. E. Neeley's millinery store, over Chamberlin, Boynton &amp; Co's.

oct12—d12

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union

Springs, Alabama, for sale. Brick building, 24 furnished rooms. Splendid inducements offered to a small company.

B. A. FLAMING.

new ditth sun tues

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union

Springs, Alabama, for sale. Brick building, 24 furnished rooms. Splendid inducements offered to a small company.

B. A. FLAMING.

new ditth sun tues

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union

Springs, Alabama, for sale. Brick building, 24 furnished rooms. Splendid inducements offered to a small company.

B. A. FLAMING.

new ditth sun tues

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union

Springs, Alabama, for sale. Brick building, 24 furnished rooms. Splendid inducements offered to a small company.

B. A. FLAMING.

new ditth sun tues

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union

Springs, Alabama, for sale. Brick building, 24 furnished rooms. Splendid inducements offered to a small company.

B. A. FLAMING.

new ditth sun tues

I guarantee the largest stock and most varied assortment of fresh and seasonable goods ever shown in the city.

JOHN RYAN'S

immense carpet warerooms, 61

Whitehall street.

TO HOTEL MEN.

Lease and Furniture of Josephine Hotel, Union